Rs. 20 cr. project to revamp Mysuru Railway Station: MP

- Pratap Simha flags off extended Vishwamanava Express from Ashokapuram
- Chennai Express scheduled to start from Mysuru tomorrow at 4.45 am

Mysuru, Jan. 16 (RK&BCT)- For Mysureans, this Sankranti Gift will be a gift to remember. While the extension of Chennai-Mysuru-Chennai Express to Mysuru and Hubballi-Mysuru-Hubballi Vishwamanava Express to Ashokapuram came as good news for thousands of train travellers, the news of Mysuru City Railway Station being revamped at a cost of Rs. 20 crore brought in more cheers.

While flagging off the Vishwamanava Express that will henceforth start from Ashokapuram, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha said at Ashokapuram Railway Station this morning that the Mysuru Railway Station will be revamped at a cost of Rs. 20 crore and the foundation stone for the renovation will be laid in a couple of days. "The Station will be beautified and more passenger amenities will be added," he said.

The Ashokapuram Railway Station was constructed in 1891 and from 1924, the tests for meter-gauge trains began. "Today, Ashokapuram Station, around 5 kms from Mysuru Railway Station, is prominently present on the Railway map with thousands of passengers coming here for their journey," he said.

Pratap Simha said that as an MP he had strived for the improvement of road, rail and air projects in Mysuru region and was successful in bringing many projects. "In the past five years, five new trains from Mysuru to Bengaluru including Bi-Weekly train service to Varanasi, Vishwamanava Express, Mainline Electric Multiple Unit (MEMU) train, Chennai-KSR Bengaluru-Chennai Express to Mysuru, Mysuru-Udaipur have been introduced.

Around 30,000 people commute by trains every day in the city. The Chennai-KSR Bengaluru-Chennai Express train service will be very useful to the passengers who travel to Bengaluru in the early morning as super fast express train will depart Mysuru Railway Station at 4.45 am and reach Chennai by 2.30 pm, via Bengaluru, he said.

"It was necessary for me to lobby at the Centre to bring in more trains and air service. Thankfully, Union Ministers Suresh Prabhu, Jayant Sinha and Piyush Goyal extended their full support. Even when the Hubballi Train was to be renamed as Vishwamanava Express press to honour poet laureate Kuvempu, the Railway Minister obliged and today we have the train renamed," he said.

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha is seen flagging off the extended Vishwamanava Express from Ashokapuram Railway Station this morning as MLC K.T. Srikantegowda, Divisional Railway Manager (DRM) Aparna Garg and others look on.

Crisis deepens as Congress,
BJP lure MLAs holed up at hotels

Bengaluru / New Delhi, Jan. 16- The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) seems to be making all-out efforts to topple the coalition Government in Karnataka by wooing disgruntled Congress MLAs.

Though it will be difficult for the BJP to mop up the required numbers to form a Government, the party wants to prove that the coalition experiment in Karnataka is a failure. Party leaders seem to have taken a calculated risk as, if the coalition Government falls, the BJP can come to power. With BJP in power in Karnataka, it will help the party in the Lok Sabha polls, party leaders feel, said sources.

Highly placed sources and TV reports said this morning that yesterday, Karnataka Prajnavantha Janata Party's R. Shankar from Ranebennur Assembly segment and H. Nagesh, an Independent MLA from Mulbagal segment in Kolar district, pulled out from coalition Government as part of the BJP's efforts to declare the seven-month-old coalition a failure.

Karnataka BJP MLAs are at present lodged at a luxurious resort in Gurugram near New Delhi and the entire resort has been occupied by the MLAs. Sources said that each room in the resort costs Rs. 30,000 per day.

This noon, when we went to Press, BJP State President B.S. Yeddyurappa was holding a meeting with the BJP law-makers at the Gurugram hotel. Sources said that Yeddyurappa has told the law-makers that over eight MLAs from Congress were ready to jump the ship and cross over to the BJP. Even TV reports say that eight Congress MLAs are likely to defect later today. Initial reports said that over 11 MLAs were ready to defect from the Congress.

Beauty and beholder

A classical description of money, attributed to some highly rated economist, is crisply stated as 'Money is what money does.' The term beauty has its time-honoured perception expressed in a simpler yet fascinating statement, namely, 'Beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder,' thus lending beauty a canvas with no boundary and the beholder a wide world of freedom. Of food, it is said that one man's bread is another's poison. Taking one from this ancient saying, one is prompted to remark that one man's beauty (not limited to human species), may look ugly to many others. An example of this diverse view suggests itself effortlessly: Visitors to the city can be heard saying, 'Mysore is a beautiful place' only to be treated as laughing matter by hard-boiled Mysureans who are part of its long history. Similarly, the owl is a beautiful bird in the eyes of naturalists but people at large ...?

Poets, Essayists and Novelists writing in a multitude of languages have gifted to the world scripts about beauty that should open the eyes of those who are blind to the Virtue, be it of females, beasts, birds and places. The world's earliest poet Kalidasa stands out when it comes to describing beauty of females through the means of the figure of speech, simile.

Every country across the world has its icons amidst their populations, both in the past and our times. Given the diversity of the ethnic features, it may be inappropriate to either judge between beautiful and ugly looks or rank the individuals in beauty contests, although crowning females as Miss World and Miss Universe has become a multi-million dollar event, in which many females from India have made it to the victory stand. Some old-timers are heard saying that beauty is just skin-deep, reducing a sublime matter to mundane level, a remark that may not gel with the youth anywhere in the world.

Beauty, described by litterateurs as a many-splendoured asset, mercifully doesn't have any measure in quantitative terms. Understandably, women of South Korea are said to have rebelled against their society's rigid beauty standards, as reported in the media recently. All said and done, beautiful whatever and the beholder are best left to themselves.

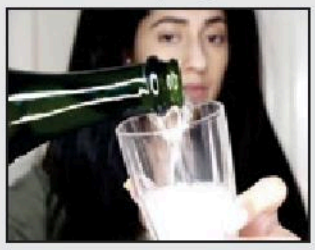
Hair wash with champagne



Moscow: A barber in Moscow has become famous for washing hair of clients with champagne.

Vilen Knudaverdyan says he came up withe unusual service after performing it on a colleague, as a joke. The woman was leaving for another job, and during the farewell party they organized for her at the hair salon they decided to wash her hair with champagne. She apparently loved it, so he decided to offer it as a paid service for clients as well. Now his Moscow salon is famous for the champagne hair wash.

The process is fairly straightforward. Knudaverdyan first runs warm water through the client's hair, then slowly pours champagne over it, and massages their scalp.

World's coldest race

Oymyakon: Runners recently gathered at Oymyakon, a village in Russia to compete in the coldest official race in history.

Oymyakon is the coldest inhabited place on Earth with temperatures constantly dropping to under -50 degrees Celsius in winter time. This place is so cold that a person's unprotected face can suffer frostbite in a matter of seconds and sometimes the mercury in thermometers freezes. 16 runners gathered here to take part in a series of extreme races.

The brave runners – aged 21 to 71 and very well-trained – competed in bone-chilling marathons for 5, 10, 20, 30 and 42 kilometers across the frozen taiga of central Yakutia. At the start of the run, the air temperature was an almost unbearable -52 degrees Celsius, and by the time the first and only runner reached the 39km mark, it had softened to -48 degrees Celsius.

The world's coldest race was organised by Alexander Krylov, of Turuu Tour agency. He plans to do it again next year, hopefully with more brave runners.

Provide 22 berth First Class AC coach for trains originating from Mysuru

Sir,

It is given to understand that Train Numbers 16535/16536 Mysuru - Hubballi Hampi Express runs combined with an RSA with 17307/17308 Mysuru-Solapur Golgumbaz Express. Also 16209/16210 Mysuru-Ajmer Express runs combined with an RSA with 16229/16230 Mysuru - Varanasi Express. All these trains run with a combined rake sharing arrangement (RSA) with 4 rakes each in both the directions. Thus the coach composition remains unchanged throughout the journey consisting of sleeper coaches, AC 3 tier coaches, AC 2 tier coach and one composite First Class AC-cum -AC 2 tier coach.

Presently for the First Class AC-cum-AC 2 tier coach from Mysuru for all these trains, a limited quota of berths exists for First Class AC portion. The composite coaches of First Class AC in these trains consist just 10 berths for an entire leg of journey, as the other composite portion consist of upto 20 AC 2 Tier berths. Thereby it gives no room for people like Senior Citizens and Tourists to book the tickets on First Class AC coaches in these trains and thus causes an inconvenience to avail confirmed reservation due to limited number of berths.

It may be noted that the arrangement of First Class AC composite coaches for such trains that run on long distances originating from Mysuru does not serve any purpose and is of little help, as the trains run beyond 12 hours. The demand surges especially during festival seasons, weekend holidays and during Dasara when Mysuru witnesses heavy influx of tourists.

The Railway authorities concerned are requested to urgently replace the current arrangement of just 10 berth First Class AC composite coach with a complete 22 berth First Class AC coach for the trains that originate from Mysuru — that is, Hampi Express, Golgumbaz Express, Mysuru - Ajmer Express and Mysuru - Varanasi Express.

Encroachment clearance drive at Doddakere

Tahsildar's action illegal, says Residents Association

The board erected at Survey Number 1 near Mall of Mysore by Mysuru Tahsildar on Jan.10. Members of the Doddakere Tank Bund Site Owners Welfare and Development Association have, however, termed the Tahsildar's action as illegal.

Mysuru, Jan.16- The Doddakere Tank Bund Site Owners Welfare and Development Association has flayed the Mysuru District Administration's move of 'trespassing' the Association's land despite Court orders that had favoured the Association.

On Jan.10, armed with earth movers, Mysuru Tahsildar had cleared the 'encroached' land at Survey Number 1 near Mall of Mysore, Kasaba hobli, Mysuru taluk. The 11-acre-38-guntas land is located between Mall of Mysore and the M.G. Road Vegetable Market.

According to Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu, the Doddakere Tank Bund Site Owners Welfare and Development Association had allegedly encroached upon the Government land that is worth more than Rs.150 crore.

However, in a press release, the Association Secretary P.S. Mahesh has said that the Tahsildar had trespassed on the land owned by the members of the Association.

Govt. petition not admitted

"The officer's claim in the notice boards put up by him that the Government's Writ Appeal No. W.P. 5128/2016 against the orders of High Court (HC) in W.P. 20243-20245/2009 dated 10-3-2016 has been admitted itself is false. The Government filed the Writ Appeal W.P. 5128/2016 nearly two years back which has not yet been admitted. As such, the District Administration cannot claim our property as Government property. Until the HC passes its order on the writ appeal, the Court order on W.P. 20243-20245/2009 establishing our ownership of the land will remain in force," the Secretary stated.

Further, Mahesh has stated that the Tahsildar has wrongly claimed that the land belonged to the Association and the land is 'Kharab' (Government land) and can only be used for public purposes and no private individual can claim ownership over it.

Purchased from Maharajas

"Both these claims have been dismissed by various Courts and the Government's own records," the Association Secretary said. Members of the Association purchased sites from Jayachamaraja Wadiyar in 1972-1973 and the individual sale deeds were registered, Khatas were issued to the members by Mysore Municipal Corporation and taxes are being paid since 45 years.

"Subsequently, following the directions from MUDA, individual site owners formed the Association to form a layout as per MUDA requirements. The district officers are fully aware of a large number of Government documents and letters which acknowledge that the legal title of ownership over the Doddakere Maidan (in which the land owned by the members of our Association is a part) rested with the erstwhile Maharaja and those who purchased sites from the Maharaja have derived the right, title and interests over the property," he said.

Residential Layout

"This was explicitly stated in the HC order dated 10-3-2016 in the Writ Petition W.P. 20243-20245/2009. The High Court held that the contention of the State Government that land is 'Kharab' is belied by the fact that the State Government has notified and acquired the land in several parcels to form a residential layout and have allotted to third parties.

Apart from this, a certain portion has been earmarked to a Five Star Hotel and therefore the contention that it is 'Kharab' land and belongs to the State is belied by the circumstances."

HC rules in favour of Association

The HC allowed the Association's Writ Petition, and upheld the original sanctioned layout plan by MUDA in favour of the Association. Thus, Mysuru Tahsildar cannot claim that the property belongs to the State when the Government's Writ Appeal has not been admitted. Government records and the Mysuru DC's reports show that 5.4 acres of Doddakere Maidan has been auctioned to a hotel and a residential layout is also formed in 11 acre portion of Doddakere Maidan where palatial houses have been built, he said.

DC Report on ownership

"The DC's report clearly states that by virtue of the agreement between Union of India, the Mysore State and Maharaja, the land in question belongs to the Royal family. The report admits that sites have been sold to members of our Association and that the Khatas have been issued in their favour by the Mysore Municipal Corporation," the Association Secretary stated.

"The Mysuru Tahsildar and the Government are also fully aware that they cannot claim the title to our property since the Government itself sought Law Department's opinion at least five times (From 1995 to 2011). These legal opinions categorically state that the Maharaja of Mysore had a valid title over Doddakere Maidan, and those who purchased sites from the Maharaja have derived right, title and interests over the property," he stated.

"The coercive actions taken by the Tahsildar are illegal and unfair. His actions appear to have been taken with malafide intentions and intent of appeasing the vested interests and in the process needlessly harassing the ordinary law abiding citizens," Mahesh said.

Reid & Taylor Employees Union issues clarification

Mysuru, Jan.16- Apropos to the news item titled 'Workers seek Siddharamaiah's help to save Reid & Taylor factory' published in SOM dated Jan.10 (page-5), the Reid & Taylor Employees Union has issued a clarification in respect of the representation made to Siddharamaiah.

In a press release, the Union said that as per its information, it was not that serious in repayment of loans, but the incurrence of huge losses, in new business ventures, that had led to the default in repayment of loans.

The release further said that the Union was apprehensive that a responsible person heading the operations management of the company seems to be pushing the company into liquidation for his own personal gains.

Also, one of the financial creditors by name Finquest Financial Solutions (P) Ltd., is pressing for liquidation of the company. All these developments have pushed the workers, who have toiled for the factory for many years, to stare at an uncertain future.

Under these circumstances, the Union is making all efforts to save the factory and its department workers, the release said.

All five accused get bail

Appanna Shankar Eshwar Jude Pereira Sairam

Madikeri, Jan. 16 (PS&KS)- All the five accused persons in the Kodagu Rave Party incident, where a huge quantity of ganja (marijuana) and other banned substances were seized at a Home Stay, have been released on bail. The bail was granted on Jan. 13.

The accused are M.A. Appanna, the owner of the Home Stay, Jude Pereira of Pune, Shankar Shantanu of Mumbai, Sairam and M.V. Eshwar of Bengaluru.

The arrests were made on Jan. 12 and they were produced before the Judicial Magistrate First Class (JMFC) Court on Jan. 13 and the Judge granted them bail the same day.

The District Crime Detection Squad (DCDS) that raided a Home Stay on Jan. 12, had arrested Appanna and the four youths for allegedly organising a Rave Party at 'Nelaji A-1 Glamping' Home Stay located at Nelaji village coming under Napoklu Police limits.

They had in their possession 205 grams of ganja, 29 grams of charas and cash.

Apart from the banned stuff, DCDS also seized three ganja leaves crushing equipment, two tiny weighing scales, 17 tobacco rolling paper packets and filters, mobile phones, hookah, Rs. 1,75,500 cash, music system, generator and a mini lorry from the accused.

Following several complaints from the public that late night rave parties were being organised at some Home Stays, Kodagu SP Dr. Suman D. Pennekar had instructed the officers and staff of DCDS to take stringent action following which the DCDS raided the Home Stay at Nelaji village.

It is learnt that the Home Stay owner had taken permission from the Police to organise the party saying that they were celebrating the first anniversary of the Home Stay. During the raid 70-80 revellers were found high on drugs, but only those in possession of ganja were arrested.

Meanwhile, the SP said that all Home Stays will now be under vigil and appealed to the people to tip off the Police about any illegal activities in their neighbourhood.

Shetty had reportedly borrowed Rs. 30 lakh from Manjunath for business and when he asked Shetty to return the money, his (Manjunath) sister, brother-in-law, their son K.P. Sagar and his friend Anil Kumar held talks and agreed to get Manjunath a site at Vijayanagar in city for the money they had borrowed.

They then showed Manjunath a site in Vijayanagar and took an additional amount of Rs. 7.5 lakh from him.

Shocked over this, Manjunath lodged a complaint against his sister, brother-in-law, their son and friend at Udayagiri Police Station. Udayagiri Police, who have registered a case, are investigating.

Ayyappa politics is sacrilege

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Two factors are preventing the Sabarimala conundrum from moving towards a solution — and the self-promoting politics of BJP-RSS forces are too unimportant to be one of them. It's true that Hindutva extremists' political obstructionism drew attention in the early days through violence. Although their campaign was in the name of tradition, they had no compunctions about breaking traditions; a leader climbed the holy steps to deliver a speech. Only when they realised the counter-productive nature of their agitation did they move to Thiruvananthapuram with the idea of "relay" fasting which, when we think about it, is a con game: One person lying in a bed for a couple of days without food and then going away to eat while another person takes to the bed, presumably after a hearty meal.

The real reasons behind the crisis continuing in Sabarimala are, first, wrong readings of the issue of discrimination and, secondly, the tactlessness of the Chief Minister that defies common sense. Liberal opinion has taken a one-track position based on women's right to equality. According to them, a prolonged campaign was necessary in Kerala to let Dalits enter temples and a similar campaign has become necessary to let women enter Sabarimala.

This is a mixing of issues that have neither historical nor sociological similarities. Dalit oppression, which had reached sadistic levels in Kerala, was based on open, shameless, caste-based discrimination. It violated the basic tenets of any civilised society and had to be brought to an end. Sabarimala's no-woman stance is not a comparable case of discrimination. It is based on faith, tradition and, let it not be forgotten, a High Court ruling in 1991. The court remarked that the practice was there from "time immemorial" because women could not do the mandatory 41-day penance due to menstruation. The present court ruling has to be weighed against the previous one.

More importantly, the no-woman tradition in Sabarimala runs parallel to no-man traditions in other temples. What is considered the largest annual gathering of women in the world takes over the main roads in Thiruvananthapuram to cook rice in earthen pots for the Goddess in Attukal temple at Pongala time. Men are barred from participation. In fact, the Attukal temple is known as the Sabarimala of women. Another revered pilgrim centre in Kerala, Chakkulathu Kavu, is also for women only. So is the famous Bhagati Maa temple in Kanyakumari. No one accuses these temples of discrimination against men and there is no campaign for men's equality. By the same token, no one should accuse Swamy Ayyappan's temple of discrimination against women. The space for faith in our lives is legitimate. Those who do not have the faith should not hinder those who have. That is what makes a society free.

As has been said before, "It is natural for an old civilisation to have old practices. Justice is best when it recognises that there is no offence in the logic of the faithful being at variance with the logic of the rationalist."

The second factor that keeps Sabarimala on the boil is Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan's haste in helping women to enter Sabarimala. The steps he has taken in the wake of the Supreme Court order and the statements he has made in a stop-me-if-you-can tone reflect a Communist leader's attitude rather than a Chief Minister's. As the head of government, he could have gained much by keeping tempers low, ensuring an atmosphere of peace and giving time to various players to adjust to new concepts. But he rushed into action saying that he had no option but to carry out court orders.

A week ago he showed that he did have options. A court order allowed a Christian faction to conduct services in a disputed church. An opposing faction physically prevented this, but the State Government did nothing to ensure that the court order was duly implemented. Evidently, the Pinarayi Government picks and chooses cases in which it wants to use the courts and cases where it likes to ignore the judiciary.

Never has Kerala politics been in such a mess. Pinarayi is considered the strong man of politics, but there is no sign of his strength benefiting the State. He cannot even control the faction-ridden police force despite repeated reshuffling of top officers. The Congress is in Trishanku Swarga, not knowing who is its leader and who is not. In the melee, the BJP has outshouted others and matched communist murder politics with its own. These manipulators are only committing sacrilege in the name of the Lord of Sabarimala.

'Sangeetha Vidwan' Award conferred on Sarod Maestro Pt. Rajeev Taranath

Mysuru, Jan.16 - District Minister G.T. Devegowda conferred the State Government's 'Sangeetha Vidwan' Award on Sarod Maestro Pandit Rajeev Taranath at a programme organised amidst Bahuroopi National Theatre Festival at Rangayana premises here on Monday.

Speaking after receiving the award, Rajeev Taranath said he dedicates the award to his Guru Ustad Ali Akbar Khan.

Noting that his Guru was equivalent to his father, Pt. Taranath said, but for his guru, he would have been an English lecturer.

Maintaining that he was fortunate to have Ali Akbar Khan as his Guru, the Sarod Maestro asserted that Mysuru was home to Music and Arts.

Music, dance and other art forms are a binding force between warring nations, he said and added that the entire world was treating our music and arts with respect.

Regretting that music is getting less encouragement when compared to other subjects, he observed that it was the responsibility of everyone to ensure that Mysuru retains its pride and glory.

He also called for sustained efforts for promoting music, dance and other forms of art so that great musical talents emerge.

District Minister G.T. Devegowda and former IPS Officer C. Chandrashekar are seen presenting the State Government's 'Sangeetha Vidwan' Award to Sarod Maestro Pandit Rajeev Taranath at Rangayana premises here on Monday as Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Kannada and Culture Department Assistant Director H. Chennappa and Rangayana Director Bhagirathi Bai Kadam look on.

District Minister G.T. Devegowda, in his address, said that the entire State was delighted over the conferment of Sangeetha Vidwan Award to the Sarod Maestro.

Stating that Rajeev Taranath could not be conferred the Award during Dasara festivities in October last, as he (Rajeev) was out of the country, the Minister said the presentation of the award to the Maestro amidst a gathering of art lovers was meaningful.

Noting Pt. Taranath's passion for playing Sarod even at the age of 86, GTD said that his dedication was a model to budding artistes.

Pointing out that he has directed all Universities to set up separate sections for promotion of music, literature, dance and other art forms, the Minister said he has prayed the almighty to give more strength and health to the Maestro.

Former IPS Officer C. Chandrashekar, who delivered the felicitation address, said that although Rajeev Taranath was an English teacher, he could speak eight Indian languages including Bengali and Urdu.

Recalling that writer Prof. Hampa Nagarajaiah had once termed Rajeev Taranath as 'Rajeename Taranath' as the Sarod Maestro had resigned 18 times in his teaching career, Chandrashekar, the former city Police Commissioner, said Taranath was the first Indian musician to perform at Opera House in Sydney, Australia.

Referring to an event when the Sarod Maestro performed to an audience of over 2,000 music-lovers at Kolkata, the former IPS Officer said Taranath never lobbied for any Award and the State Sangeetha Vidwan Award was one more feather to his cap.

Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Kannada and Culture Department Joint Director V.N. Mallikarjunaswamy, Assistant Director H. Chennappa, Rangayana Director Bhagirathi Bai Kadam, theatre personality Kuppanna and others were present on the occasion.

Efforts on to bring back three tribals from Pakshirajapura stuck in Mozambique

Mysuru, Jan. 16- The Indian High Commission at Maputo, the capital of Mozambique, is in regular touch with Mozambique's Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) for the repatriation of three tribals belonging to Hakki-Pikki Community from Pakshirajapura near Hunsur who have been stuck at Nampula in Mozambique since July 2008. They are banned from leaving Mozambique.

The tribals are Saiju, Madhu Chandran and Praveen from Pakshirajapura that is well-known for Ayurvedic treatment, massages and herbal remedies. All the three tribals are in their thirties and were selling plant extracts and offering massages to people with body ache and other ailments.

The trio allegedly paid a bribe to local authorities in Mozambique to extend their stay there and this attracted the attention of the local Anti-Corruption Department. The Department is not ready to let the three leave the country until the investigation into the case is completed, reports said.

The Indian High Commission is hopeful that the three will be deported once the judicial process is over. Sources said the High Commissioner of India to Mozambique Rudra Gaurav Shresth met Ana Maria Gemo, Director of ACB, Mozambique, on Jan. 3 in this regard. The ACB has already begun inquiry into the case and as per sources the ACB will suggest to the court about the possibility of imposing a penalty or deport them to India. However, the decision will be left to the court, sources added.

Reports said the trio were a part of a group of 16 members who had arrived in Mozambique to explore business opportunities in July. After the expiry of their three-month visa, they tried to extend their stay by securing residence permits and for this they allegedly paid money get residence permits illegally. The local ACB got information about the bribe and had rounded off all the 16 persons.

The Indian High Commission learnt about the case and managed to get Mozambique government to deport 13 members of the team in the first week of August. Efforts are still on to deport Saiju, Madhu Chandran and Praveen, reports added.

Around 2,000 Hakki Pikki tribals and 1,200 Shillekyatas, also a tribal community, live in Pakshirajapura village. The tribals go abroad to sell their herbal products and offer massages and their massages are famous as "Pakshirajapura massage."

Crisis deepens

Amidst political crisis in Karnataka, a Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting has been called on Jan. 18 in Bengaluru. Karnataka Water Resources Minister D.K. Shivakumar claimed the party was aware of "what has transpired (in Mumbai hotel where a few Congress MLAs are camping) and how much has been offered to them (by BJP)."

Meanwhile, the Congress reached out to Independents who left the coalition government yesterday and urged them to rethink their decision. Karnataka Congress In-charge K.C. Venugopal said that he was in touch with all the MLAs. "This drama is going to end in a day or a two. We are all together and there is no internal fight in Congress. This is all baseless," he added.

Sources said that the Congress is planning to counter BJP strategy by promising Cabinet berths to four BJP MLAs in order to lure them. Even Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy had yesterday said that some BJP MLAs are in his touch. "Our coalition government is running smoothly. I am relaxed. We are in touch with all our legislators and have their support," he said.

Three-day training workshop on 'Cause of Death' begins

ZP Chief Planning Officer Prabhuswamy is seen inaugurating the workshop at Administrative Training Institute here this morning as other dignitaries look on.

Mysuru, Jan.16(US&RKB)- A three-day training workshop on 'Cause of Death' organised by the District Department of Statistics commenced at Administrative Training Institute (ATI) here this morning.

About 300 doctors from 8 districts of Mysuru Division have been selected to attend the workshop with about 100 doctors attending daily. The doctors will be briefed by Resource Persons on the importance of the cause of death mentioned in medical certificates which should be explicit with no ambiguity to facilitate compilation of mortality statistics.

Inaugurating the programme ZP Chief Planning Officer Prabhuswamy contended that the Health Department has technologically improved a lot so that statistical data could be sent across the country very easily and quickly. He opined that doctors with good exposure in the field should be able to clearly ascertain the cause of death and mention in the medical certificate.

Citing examples, Prabhuswamy said that mentioning cause of death superficially as heart attack or snake bite would be ambiguous without furnishing more details in medical terms. He further said that effective data collected on cause of death would help to scientifically compile mortality statistics and help physicians to ascertain the exact cause of death.

District Statistical Officer M. Shivamma, Assistant Director M. Prakash, KPME Nodal Officer Dr. Umesh and others were present.

Sandesh Nagaraj lauds Pratap Simha again

Mysuru, Jan. 16 (RK&BCT)- At a time of political turmoil when our Karnataka BJP MLAs are holed up at a plush resort in Gurugram near New Delhi and at a time when a couple of Congress MLAs are said to be 'out of touch' with their party bosses, the remarks made by JD(S) MLC Sandesh Nagaraj lauding Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha has raised brows.

Yesterday when the MP flagged off the inaugural run of Mysuru-Chennai Express from City Railway Station, Sandesh Nagaraj, in his speech, said that Mysuru has seen many development projects since the last five years after Pratap Simha became the MP. "Pratap Simha has done good work and he is known to have lobbied hard for many infrastructure projects to the region and he has been successful in bringing a couple of projects to Mysuru. Today we have many trains, new flights are starting and there is much stress on Swachh Bharat. All this due to the efforts of Pratap Simha," he said.

It may be mentioned here that on Dec. 24, during the inauguration of Mainline Electric Multiple Unit (MEMU) train service at City Railway Station, Sandesh Nagaraj said that Pratap Simha had taken up many developmental works in his four-and-a-half-year tenure as MP, which would ensure Simha's re-election in the 2019 LS polls.

In a first, Sulwadi tragedy trial through video-conferencing

Chamarajanagar, Jan.16 (SR& Siddalingaswamy)- In a first, Chamarajanagar District and Principal Sessions Court Judge B. Basavaraja conducted the Hanur Sulwadi Temple tragedy case through video-conferencing due to security reasons at the District Court Complex in city this morning.

Over 17 persons were killed and more than 120 fell ill after consuming prasadam laced with pesticide on Dec.14, 2018 at Kichuguth Maramma Temple at Sulwadi.

The hearing was scheduled this morning at the Court and the Police were supposed to produce all the four accused before the Judge -- Salur Mutt Junior Pontiff Immadi Mahadevaswamy, Manager of the Temple Madesha, his wife Ambika and former employee of the Temple Doddaiah who were locked up in Mysuru Central Prisons.

However, the judge chose video-conferencing option foreseeing that supporters of the accused might gather in front of the Court and emotions might run high.

Earlier, the trail which was conducted at the Court of the Principal District Munisif Court at Kollegal Town was shifted to District Court as more than 10 victims of the tragedy belonged to Scheduled Caste/ Tribes. The case was shifted as per the norms followed by Courts in such cases.

In various cases of terrorism, Courts conduct trials through Video Conferencing but this is the first case in Chamarajanagar Court that saw the use of electronic gadgets.

Immadi Mahadevaswamy appeared before the Judge through the video conferencing facility and gave his statement. When the judge asked Mahadevaswamy whether he had appointed any advocate to argue his case, he replied that he had appointed one advocate called Siddartha from Madikeri. However, no such lawyer turned up.

The Judge has also asked the same question to other three accused Madesha, Ambika and Doddaiah and they answered that they had not appointed any advocates so far and sought 10 days time for it. Hearing their statements, the Judge postponed the hearing to Jan. 29.

Police Transfers

Bengaluru, Jan.16- Even as the alliance partners — JD(S) and Congress — are busy in thwarting the efforts of the Opposition BJP to pull down the Coalition Government, the State Government on Monday transferred 15 Dy.SPs and 46 Police Inspectors across the State.

In Mysuru, K. Santosh has been posted as Vidyaranyapuram Police Inspector, while V.V. Puram Inspector P.A. Sooraj has been transferred and posted as Devaraja Traffic Inspector, R.P. Ashok has been posted to Holenarasipura and ACB Inspector S.D. Suresh Kumar has been posted to Jayalakshimpuram Police Station.

In other transfers, R. Jagadish, who was awaiting posting, has been posted as K.R. Traffic Police Inspector, G.C. Raju as Kuvempunagar Police Inspector, S. Gangadhar as Lakshmipuram Police Inspector, N. Muniyappa as Lashkar Police Inspector and woman Police Inspector S.Shashi Kala as Lokayukta Police Inspector. V.V. Puram Traffic Police Inspector C.V. Ravi has been transferred and posted as Mysuru Rural Circle Police Inspector, while B.G. Prakash, who was serving as Jayalakshmipuram Police Inspector has been transferred to V.V. Puram Traffic Police Station, ACB Inspector H.N. Vinay as V.V. Puram Police Inspector and K.V. Krishnappa as Srirangapatna Circle Inspector.

Hunsur, Jan.16 (RK&KS)- Two bike riders were killed on the spot and two pillion riders sustained injuries when their bikes collided head-on near Pattaladamma Lake Road close to Tenkalakoppal village, coming under Bilikere hobli, in the taluk on Monday night.

While the deceased have been identified as Kiran (27) of Tenkalakoppal village and Rohith (16) of Bilikere village, the injured pillion riders are Sandeep and Santosh. Bilikere Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating.

Organisations seek capital punishment for culprits

Members of various organisations submitting a memorandum to Assistant Commissioner of Kollegal Division, demanding capital punishment for the culprits in Hanur Sulwadi Temple Tragedy recently.

Kollegal, Jan.16 (Nagendra&SR)- Members of various Progressive Organisations staged protest in the town on Monday, demanding capital punishment for the culprits in Hanur Sulwadi Temple Tragedy.

The protesters have also urged the Government to set up Special Fast Track Court to ensure speedy justice to award punishment for the accused.

They felt that delay in the judgement would pave way for destruction of evidence by the accused as they were all powerful. This incident had brought shame to the entire human community.

They submitted memorandums to Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and Chief Justice of High Court through Assistant Commissioner of Kollegal taluk.

Earlier, hordes of protesters took out a protest march from MGSV College and passed through main streets of the town collecting signatures of more than 4,000 persons to build up the pressure on the Government.

Progressive Organisation Leaders Shailendra, Gowdegowda, Shivkumar, Shivamurthy, Madhuvanahalli Basavaraj, Anagalli Dasharath, Dileep Siddappaji and others led the protest.

Bereaved families still grief-stricken

Mysuru, Jan.16 (MTY&SR)- The bereaved families who have lost their kith and kin in the Sulwadi Temple Tragedy are still grieving over their loss.

A pall of gloom has descended on Sulwadi, Bidarahalli, Vaddaradoddi, Martalli and other villages which lost many lives. Though the Police had arrested four accused — Salur Mutt Junior Pontiff Immadi Mahadevaswamy, Ambika, Madesha and Doddaiah — after the tragedy, many people doubt that accused may come out of jail with bail using their clout at Govt. level as they are all influential.

Though a month passed after the fateful day, a 10-year-old boy is still kept on ventilator at Narayana Hrudalaya in city and another half-dozen victims have been availing treatment at various hospitals of Mysuru. Grief-stricken family members are still living in constant fear of losing their loved ones.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka gives tips on how to help migratory birds and how to safely discourage a monkey

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Should elephants be domesticated?

The question is wrongly framed because elephants cannot be domesticated. So, instead: Can elephants be domesticated?

Domesticated means that elephants have lost all wild instincts and are totally adapted to human life. Elephants need to be beaten and starved for months. They undergo brutal training to accept human contact, but they still keep their wild instincts because they are wild animals.

Thinking of elephants as domesticated is a big misconception because that makes people comfortable with the idea that they can be chained and confined to small spaces. They are herd animals and they are extremely unhappy in human surroundings. They have to be kept tied up and most elephants kept by humans, or temples, are beaten and mutilated regularly because they are not tame able.

How can we help migratory birds?

• Make a list, if possible, of which birds come to your area, and which trees they nest in; • Keep your pet cats indoors as far as possible; • Eliminate the use of pesticides for the plants in your backyard; • Reduce your carbon footprint; • Keep bird feeders and bird baths in your backyard. Make sure to keep them clean to avoid diseases; • Plant fruit and berry bearing plants; • Mark windows to avoid bird collisions with your window; • Avoid the use of plastic bags; • Help keep local water bodies clean; • Prevent anyone from killing the birds. These are often hunted. Patrol the markets and have any sellers of these birds arrested.

How can I help to save house sparrows from dying out from cities?

It may be too late to save the sparrow, as most of them have disappeared. However, if you do see any in your colony you can try to help them multiply by doing the following: • Hang bird nests on your property to encourage breeding. Sparrows breed four times a year; • Kitchen waste should be separated between biodegradable and non-biodegradable. This promotes decomposition and the development of microbes that the birds feed on; • Keep your pet cats indoor as far as possible; • Reduce your carbon footprint; • Keep bird feeders and bird baths in your backyard. Make sure to keep them clean to avoid diseases; • Plant fruit and berry bearing plants on your property. Put creepers, like bougainvillea, as sparrows often nest in them.

What are the sign and symptoms of worms in cats?

• Cat's coat might become dull; • Gums are pale or white; • Diarrhoea; • Worms visible in stool; • Bloody stool; • Bloating; • Weight loss; • Vomiting; • Constipation; • Coughing; • Breathing troubles.

How can I get rid of ants without killing them?

Ants hate strong smells. Use essential oils, haldi or vinegar at the entrances or any paths from which they enter. This disrupts their scent trails and makes it harder for them to reach the food source they are invading.

Use a chalk to draw lines. Ants stumble on the chalk particles; Keep food articles sealed; Fill in gaps or cracks on walls or floors on time; Lemon or coffee grounds can also be used at entrances and paths because of their strong smell; Keep your house clean and especially areas that have been previously affected by ants or are already affected; Keep the trashcans closed.

What do I do if I get stung by bees?

Remove the stinger. It should be scraped off instead of being pulled out. Rub with a raw potato.

Don't scratch the bee sting site. Clean the area with water and an antiseptic soap. Rubbing honey might help healing, pain and itching. Rubbing a baking soda and water paste can reduce bee venom. Putting apple cider vinegar can also help neutralize bee venom. Apply ice or cold packs. Apply a mild lotion.

Why dog pee kills grass?

Dogs eat a lot of protein. This breaks down in their bodies and is excreted as nitrogen in the urine. The result is a killing of the grass from an overload of nitrogen.

What is pica? Can it also occur in cats just like in dogs?

Feline with a mild case of pica may suck or lick inedible objects, but not actually consume the object. In severe cases of pica, the feline will consume the object completely. Some objects could be yarn, electric cords, plants, fabric and wool. Pica in cats is the act of eating objects that are not food.

Yes, pica also occurs in dogs. It is more common in female canines.

What is a natural antibiotic for chickens?

Oregano oil and cinnamon are considered one of the most favourable natural antibiotics for chickens. Oregano is one of the most powerful antibiotic ever studied.

Black pepper also has antibiotic, anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties.

Cayenne pepper effectively reduces worm diseases and boosts egg production.

If birds eat uncooked rice, can it swell up in their stomach and kill them?

This isn't true. Ornithologists write that rice is perfectly safe for birds to eat. Wild rice is a dietary staple for many birds, as are other grains, such as wheat and barley, that expand when they absorb moisture.

The rate at which dried grains absorb liquids is really slow except when they are being cooked. Besides, like people, birds can digest things too.

Long before any uncooked rice consumed by a bird could expand and harm the animal, it would have already been ground up in the bird's crop and well into the process of being broken down into nutrients and waste by the acids and enzymes in its digestive tract.

How do I spot ear mites?

There are several types of mites that can live in your dog's ear, but the most common are Otodectes cynotis — tiny, eight-legged parasites that feed on the wax and oils in a dog's ear canal.

An individual mite has a three-week life cycle, and is barely detectable by the naked eye. Causing irritation and inflammation, ear mites can infect the external and internal canal, and lead to more serious skin or ear infections if left untreated. Infection usually produces a characteristic dark discharge; in some cases, the ear canal can become entirely obstructed by this coffee ground-like debris.

What are the little white things under my cat's tail and on his stool?

The little white things are tapeworms. Long and flat, tapeworms are segmented parasites and range from 4 to 28 inches in length.

My cat has tapeworms. How did this happen? What should I do?

Cats acquire tapeworms by ingesting an intermediate host, like an infected flea or rodent. When cats are infected, tapeworm segments — actual pieces of the worm that resemble grains of rice — can often be seen on the fur around a cat's hind end. Take the cat to the vet for a prescription. Once a cat is rid of tapeworms, the best way to keep her clean is to keep her flea-free. Flea treatment consists of two treatments, 30 days apart, to ensure that the fleas and their eggs are eliminated during the entire cycle of fleas hatching.

Should I feed a monkey near my residential community? How to safely distract and discourage a monkey?

No, monkeys shouldn't be fed. As per a study, conducted by ATREE and NIAS in West Bengal, researchers found that human processed food products cause hormonal imbalances, mood swings and increase in inter-group aggression among monkeys. Also, the act of feeding monkeys makes them become used to being fed by humans and thus they actively seek provisioned food. This makes them more likely to attack humans. Too many people feed them small amounts at different times of the day keeping them hungry and aggressive. Too many people feed them only on Tuesdays which makes them angry for the rest of the week.

Plant fruit trees which monkeys eat round the year — mangoes, jamuns, guler — so that they remain in the trees. But plant them in clumps near a forested area.

In order to discourage monkeys: Use fully secured trashcans; Don't feed monkeys; Make sure windows in your house are secured and doors are closed at all times; Keep a dog; If you safely scare a monkey away, it will think your community is not a safe place to be; Don't stare at a monkey, corner it or approach it; Identify an exit and encourage the monkey to leave by stomping or hitting the ground; Never hit a monkey; If there are young monkeys and babies then be extra cautious and try to lower your head and move away slowly.

Sankranti of lamps and fire rituals...

Sri Ranganathaswamy Temple in Srirangapatna, the Adhi Ranga of Triranga Darshanam, which has a great significance among Vaishnavas in South India, glowing with lakhs of earthen lamps lit to mark the 29th Annual Makara Sankranti Laksha Deepotsava last night.

Decorated cattle and sheep being made to jump over the fire set to a small hay stack as part of the ritual during Makara Sankranti celebrations at Siddalingapura on Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway near Mysuru last night. A large number of people gathered in the village to witness the age-old tradition of 'kichchu hayisu' (jumping over the fire) carried out near the Eshwara Temple on the Highway.

Young Scientist 'Drone' Pratap felicitated

Mysuru, Jan.16 (US&PM)- Kadamba Ranga Vedike had organised a function at Pathrakartara Bhavan here recently to felicitate city's young scientist N.M. Pratap, known as 'Drone' Pratap after his invention.

Speaking after felicitating Pratap, writer Prof. Kalegowda Nagavara urged the government and society to identify and honour achievers with poor background.

He commended the scientific skills of Pratap, hailing from a poor family who has become popular in India and abroad. He urged the State and Union Governments to provide necessary help for the young scientist.

Prof. Kalegowda opined that honouring achievers with poor background was better than building temples and towers.

He recalled that Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam and K.R. Narayanan were all from poor background.

Receiving the honour, Pratap said that he was developing a drone to assess the fertility of soil in agriculture and possible infestation by pests which would be a boon to farmers. Attributing his success to former President Dr. Kalam, he sought a simpler method to teach English to Kannada medium students and opined that the educational system needs a thorough change in the country.

Vedike President Rajashekar Kadamba, Rotary North President M.K. Nanjaiah, former President of District Kannada Sahitya Parishat Maddikere Gopal and others were present.

MLC demands setting up of Education Commissionerate and Evening Polytechnic

Marithibbegowda

Mysuru, Jan. 16 (RKB&DM)- Senior JD(S) MLC Marithibbegowda has appealed Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy to set up a Commissionerate of Public Instruction and a Government Evening Polytechnic in city.

Highlighting the need for setting up an Evening Polytechnic, he observed that the Polytech can function from CPC Polytechnic, which has necessary infrastructure. More teachers can be appointed to run the Evening Polytech, he said and added that although former CM Siddharamaiah had already made an announcement in this regard, it had not taken shape.

Referring to the political drama going on in the State over the past couple of days, the MLC said that BJP's efforts to topple the coalition Government will not yield results.

WORD OF THE DAY

Syllogism

Pronunciation: SIL-uh-jiz-um.

Meaning: A subtle or crafty argument, deductive reasoning.
Origin: For those trained in formal argument, the syllogism is a classical form of deduction, specifically an argument consisting of a major and a minor premise and a conclusion. One example is the inference that "kindness is praiseworthy" from the premises "every virtue is praiseworthy" and "kindness is a virtue." Syllogism came to English through Anglo-French from Latin syllogismus, which in turn can be traced back to the Greek verb syllogizesthai, meaning "to infer." In Greek logizesthai means "to calculate" and derives from logos, meaning "word" or "reckoning." Syl- comes from syn-, meaning "with" or "together."
Example: A degenerate society cared nothing for syllogisms grown threadbare by repetition.

THE ODD WORD

Scofflaw

A person who flouts the law.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A complete shambles

Meaning: A scene of disorder, a ruin, a mess.

Origin: As early as AD 825 there is a documentary record of the Old English word 'scomul' [later called shamble], meaning 'footstool'. This derives from the Latin 'scamellum', meaning 'small bench'. By AD 971 'shamble' had been recorded as meaning 'bench for the sale of goods' and by 1305 'stall for the sale of meat'.
The nice little word 'shambles' is now almost always accompanied by one of the intensifiers 'total' or 'complete'. I stepped onto her decks; they were a complete shambles, a dozen or more men lay about the after part of the ship. Go to York today and you will find the narrow lanes of The Shambles to be bustling with tourists and shoppers.
Example: After the fraternity party, the house was in shambles.
